Service to God and community can be a lifelong pursuit. Just ask these teens from parishes around the Diocese, this year's winners of the St. Timothy Award, an annual recognition of outstanding service in youth ministry.

The awards are named for St. Timothy, a young companion of St. Paul, and are given to young people who exhibit "love, faith and virtue." In the words of those who nominated them, read how these high schoolers are "rising up" to the challenges facing them as young Catholics – and blaze a trail of service, compassion, and faith.

"Andrea has been a member of the God Squad for the past few years. She attends almost every meeting and is always quick to volunteer or help. She is a true example of faith in action, whether it is with this group, serving on the altar at Mass, or giving her time and talents to community service."
